

LTF Ch.11 Summary

Kahlee Hacker

True Son feels his sickness is growing worse steadily throughout the winter. All winter he waited for a message from his Indian people , but nothing came. True son was becoming more and more homesick as Spring drew near. He begins to feel the his Indian people have forgotten about him, since he has heard nothing from them in so long. Gordie tells him that Aunt Kate has seen an Indian outside, and True Son becomes very excited. True Son slips into his Indian clothes and climbs out of his window into the night. Once outside, he shouts a secret Indian call that sounds like the hoot of an owl. The boy receives an answer from an Indian who asks him who he is and which tribe he is from. When finally True Son realizes that this Indian is Half Arrow. Half Arrow is also happy to see his cousin but says that he did not recognize True Son's voice because he sounded like a white trying to speak Lenni Lenape. Half Arrow took John to see Little Crain and once they found Little Crain laying next to a tree they realized that he has been scalped and killed. The boys decide to visit Uncle Wilse's cooper store to ask who killed Little Crane. His uncle did not know and he asked John if he knew if his father knew where he was, then from out of the darkness Half Arrow came out and scalped his uncle. Will True Son find who killed Little Crain?
